EIGHT NORMAL STUDENTS ARRESTED AT RICHMOND

Charged With Unlawfully Having
In Their Possession Teachers' Examination Questions

Richmond, Ky., June 1.—Eight student-teachers at the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School here and Irvine Bullock of Mt. Vernon were arrested today on orders from T. J. Costes, president of the school, who charges them with having in their possession questions for the State and elementary teachers' examinations, which were to have been held in the various counties tomorrow.

Those arrested are Harold, J. L. and Martha Jones, brothers and sister, of Rockcastle County; Albert Smith and Alma Jones, of Owen County; W. H. Spurlock, of Clay County; Jesse B. Lay, of Knox County, and Lester Scott, of Rockcastle.

George Colvin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, made a special trip to Richmond today and said that the eight student-teachers confessed to having the questions in their possession.

Sold for $25 and $6

According to R. A. Edwards, director of the Model High School of Richmond, a girl pupil came to him and told him that the examination questions were being circulated around the campus.

He informed President Costes, who immediately instituted an investigation, which resulted in the arrest and confession of the eight students.

Harold Jones, according to Mr. Colvin, said that Irvine Bullock, of Mt. Vernon, brought the questions to Richmond to get one of the Jones family to answer the questions for him, since he was to take the examination tomorrow at Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Colvin, who returned to Frankfort last night, said that the confessions showed that Harold Jones had sold copies of the questions to Smith, Spurlock and Lay for $25 apiece. Smith sold a copy to Miss Alma Jones for $6. Scott obtained the questions by virtue of his being Harold Jones' roommate.

Selling or illegally having in possession teachers' examination questions is a felony, for which the law provides a sentence of from one School Head Under Charges

Mrs. Alice Davis, County School Superintendent of Rockcastle County, is now under indictment on a charge of fraudulently issuing teachers' certificates and for misappropriation of county funds.

Mr. Colvin said last night that a complete investigation of school conditions is being made in two other counties, where questions have been circulated prior to the date set for examination.

He had a new set of questions made for all students at Eastern Kentucky Normal, for Madison County and for Berea College, which is in that county. The entire set of papers from Rockcastle County will probably be invalidated, he said last night.

SINGING CONVENTION NOTICE

The Ohio County Singing Convention will meet at the Ohio County Fair Grounds at Hartford, July 4th. All the singing classes in the county are earnestly urged to be present.

HORACE TAYLOR, Secretary.

To the Voters of the Fourth Congressional District:

By virtue of a law passed by the Kentucky Legislature at its last session no person anywhere in the whole state will hereafter be permitted to vote in any election without first having registered. No one—man or woman—will be excepted from this rule.

The days of registration are July 10th, and 11th, next.

REMEMBER THE DATES!

Several weeks ago the Democratic State Committee met at Louisville for the purpose of considering ways and means of making sure that the Democrats would come out at the proper time and register, in order that they might thereafter have the right to vote.

At that meeting, which I was unable to attend, each of the Democratic members of Congress was made chairman of the committee for the district represented by him. In that way I have been made chairman of the committee for the Fourth Congressional District.

In my humble opinion nothing could have been more unwise. Here I am, by the grace of the people of our district, 700 or 800 miles from the scene where the work is to be done. How can I execute the commission with which the people sent me to Washington, and at the same time be in Kentucky endeavoring to persuade the people to register—although it be something that every liberty-loving man and woman should do without persuasion?

Under ordinary circumstances I might very properly have gone to Kentucky at short intervals and still kept in touch with my work here.

While I write this and at all times during the last few months I have been peculiarly situated here. An appropriation bill carrying nearly twenty-four million dollars is now, and during the months just mentioned, has been in dispute and controversy between the United States Senate and the House of Representatives. This dispute between the two Houses has been submitted to three conferences from the Senate and three from the House. I am the only Democratic conferee on the part of the House.

Millions of dollars of the people's money depend upon the result of this conference. For months, I say, this conference has been pending, each conferee contending for the adoption of his own views.

Without breach of modesty I can say, and no one here will dispute it, that my views relative to the most important features of the bill have been accepted by the conferees and adopted by the House.

That conference report is now before the Senate for its adoption, rejection or amendment. If it should be adopted by the Senate just as it is, then the work is over. But if it should be rejected, then all would have to be gone over again. However, it is reasonably certain that it will be either rejected or accepted as a whole. Instead, it is virtually certain that it will be adopted by the Senate with two or three amendments. It is impossible for me to know in advance when the Senate will take up the matter for a vote.

But, immediately the Senate acts, I must—just simply must—be here to help defeat or pass the Senate amendments in the House. As I am the only House Democrat on the conference committee, I am, in consequence, the only Democrat in the House who is familiar with all the minor details of the bill. Because of this fact, the Democratic organization in the House demands that I remain here until the bill is finally disposed of. I shall remain here regardless of personal political results at home, not merely because my colleagues in Congress demand it, but because I must do my duty by those who sent me here, let me happen what will.

Since I am thus situated, I take this means of imploring the Democrats to permit nothing whatever to deter them from registering, and thereby preserve the right to vote in the future. I appeal to all Democrats in every precinct, not only to tell me in this respect, but not to fall themselves by preserving their future right of suffrage.

May I not only trust that every Democrat will go to the proper voting precinct to register, but that each one will see that all the neighbors go.

Just as soon as imperative duties here at Washington release me I shall leave for Kentucky to co-operate with my party in looking to its future success.

In the meantime, I feel sure that the Democrats, particularly those of the county and precinct committees—men and women alike—will take care of the situation.

Very truly yours,
BEN JOHNSON.

DIAMOND DOPE

Hartford Leading Beavers When
Rain Ended Contest

The Riverside lads and the ball tossers from Beaver Dam tied up Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park, in the fourth trial of strength between the two teams this season, the Beavers having taken two of the previous games. Both teams were going good and a thriller to the finish was apparently in store for the good-sized crowd of fans in attendance, when the session was prematurely ended at the close of the fourth frame due to the ministrations of Jupiter Pluvius, with Hartford on the long end of a 5 to 2 score. Batteries: Hartford—Tinsley and Glenn; Beaver Dam—Hoover and Moore. The next set of these aggregations, which will be somewhat of the nature of a rubber game, ought to be a hair-raiser.

Beaver Shuts Out Beaver Dam

The Beaver Dam and Rockport ball tossers staged a sort of a house-warming affair at the new park of the former Sunday afternoon and the invaders came off victorious to the tune of 5 to 0. A large crowd was on hand and the game was a fast one. The features of the game were the pitching of Her for the Green River lads, he yielding only two hits, and the fielding of Burton of the same team. Her's battery mate was Gwin; Stevens and Glenn were on the points for the Beavers.

McHenry Slaughters Central City

The McHenry Majestics journeyed to Central City Sunday and took the scalps of the Muhlenberg lads by the count of 10 to 1. We have not received the details of the game, but the score alone is "nuff sed." Parrott and Phelps were on the points for the Ohio County boys.

The Hartford second team met the Sulphur Springs lads at the latter place Sunday afternoon and were vanquished by the score of 9 to 0. Batteries: Hartford—Shultz and Carpenter; Sulphur Springs—Ashby and Bozarth.

After the above mentioned session the Hartford third team tried conclusions with another bunch of Sulphur Springs budding diamond stars. The game was a tight one, the final tally being 8 to 7 in favor of the Springers. Batteries: Sulphur Springs—Midkiff and Hicks; Hartford—Tappan and Walker.

Hartford and Morgantown will play at Riverside Park, Hartford, next Sunday afternoon. The local lads are thirsting for revenge so the spectators will undoubtedly get their money's worth.

Rockport will play Letchfield next Sunday at the latter place. Manager Everley of the Green River port announces that there will probably be an extra coach on train No. 122 for this game and reduced rates.

The colored teams of Hartford and Calhoun met at Riverside Park Sunday afternoon, encouraged by a host of rooters. All was as merry as could be until in the fourth inning Jess Taylor, "the Babe" Ruth of Hayti" lifted out a bomer, thus chalking up four stalwart tallies. The Calhoun "snowballs" took issue with the umpire's ruling as to the fairness of the long shot and getting their doll rags together, went back to their own backyard.

REGISTRATION ACT

IS HELD VALID

Injunction is Asked By G. O. P.
Man At Frankfort to Stop
Process Of Law.

Frankfort, Ky., June 19.—Judge Robert L. Stout of the Franklin Circuit Court tonight overruled a motion for an injunction, made by Republican attorneys, for an injunction to prevent Franklin County officials performing the duties prescribed for them in the Smith-Minor General Registration Law. The suit at bar was one filed by J. M. Perkins, as a taxpayer, attacking the constitutionality of the measure.

The case will at once be taken to the Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky., June 17.—The general registration act was attacked by suit in the Franklin Circuit Court today on the grounds that it is unconstitutional by its terms and, invalidated by the conditions of its passage.

The suit to enjoin Sheriff John M. Lucas, Election Commissioners W. C. Bryson and L. F. Saelton and County Clerk J. B. Nash from holding the registration, is brought in the name of John M. Perkins, a prominent Republican of Frankfort and is the product of the Republican conference in Louisville this week.

W. A. Fowler, of the law firm of O'Rear & Fowler and former assistant attorney general, filed the petition.

The act, known as the Smith-Minor bill, was introduced in the House, passed and was enrolled and signed by the Speaker and Lieutenant Governor and sent to Governor Morrow, who vetoed it. The bill was then passed over his veto, but the Speaker and Lieutenant Governor did not sign it again, the clerks attestation on an attached slip of paper only showing that it was passed over the veto in both Houses.

Certification Is Attached

This form of certification is attached in the petition on the ground that the Constitution requires the same formality the second time it passed as on the first. The constitutionality of the act is attacked because it registers voters only for the election of elective officers not for bond and other kinds of elections, that it creates a court in the board of purgation and disqualifies against voters, who cannot register.

Judge Fowler contends that a youth, who becomes 21 between the date of registration and election day, or an elector who was sick on registration would be discriminated against.

In the petition Mr. Perkins, as a taxpayer, states that Franklin County will have to pay the registration officer $816 besides the incidental costs, copying registration list and purging the lists.

HARDING WARNS CONGRESS TO PASS SHIP SUBSIDY

Says He Will Call Extra Session
If Action Is Not Taken.

Washington, June 13.—Warning by President Harding that he would feel obligated to call congress in special session if it failed to take up the ship subsidy bill, prior to adjournment, was supplemented today by a White House announcement that the administration was determined to press unremittingly for action now.

The president's view on the question of an extraordinary session were set forth in a letter written May 24, to Chairman Camp, of the house rules committee, expressing the hope that the committee in charge of legislative machinery would open the way for speedy consideration of the measure. Republican committee members declared the notice served by the president would rally many Republicans to its support.

President Is Insistent

It was disclosed at the White House that the president could suffer no greater disappointment than that which would come through failure to put the shipping bill to a vote. House leaders stated he has been most insistent that the measure be taken up, if necessary, as a straight party issue, believing its enactment of great value to the country.

While the merchant marine committee was working rapidly to have the bill in shape for the house tomorrow, Representative Davis, Tennessee, a Democratic member, launched the first minority attack on it, declaring it "vicious" in its provisions, and that it gave more power to the shipping board than "good men ought to want, or had men ought to have."

On the heels of this, Representative Gallivan, Democrat, Massachusetts, attacked the bill for permitting the sale of liquor on vessels flying the American flag, displaying a phonetic copy of the wine list on the steamship President Pierce, which he charged was printed out on money appropriated by the government.

Special Rule In Doubt
There was animated discussion among members as to the effect of the president's letter after publication of the text. Considering the Democratic opposition and Republican "disaffection," one of the Republican leaders asserted today that as matters stood, it was extremely doubtful if a special rule, giving the bill the right of way, could be passed.

"THE BLACKGUARDS OF THE PRESS"

Losing the poise and urbanity, which has been one of his chief assets since he entered the White House, President Harding grows vehement in denouncing the "blackguards of the press" for their "sensational" methods in exploiting attacks upon public officials.

It is not surprising that the exposures upon Harry Daugherty have gotten under the skin of the placid man from Marion, but the press, against which Mr. Harding inveighs, is only publishing the charges made upon the floor of the United States Senate against Mr. Daugherty and charges which the Attorney General has never pretended to meet with effective denial.

In the Philadelphia Public Ledger, a Republican newspaper, appears the following news story in reference to Mr. Harding's statement:

As an illustration of the unrecorded work of "unknown, unnamed, and unheralded heroes"—in contrast to the prominence given to attacks on public servants—the President told of one of Herbert Hoover's relief workers in Russia who recently died of typhus. Mr. Harding said that brave young American "fell on the firing line of a generous civilization." The President has just written to the relief worker's mother, who has lost her last surviving son and support, a letter of cordial sympathy. It was evidently Mr. Harding's purpose to point out that while such national service usually goes untold and unappreciated in the prints, no alleged misdeeds of the name of a high public official, if cried to the house of lords enough by a "political blackguard," is too unimportant to claim the notice of "the sensational press."

There is a great deal of truth in the President's statement as amplified by the Philadelphia Journal.

but the President and the newspaper have evidently forgotten that such a man as Woodrow Wilson ever lived.

They have forgotten that while he was engaged in the most important and onerous national service ever undertaken by an American, the Republican party in this country spent its time in the very unproductive process against which Mr. Harding is now so outraged.

They criticized him for the size and expense of his clerical force on the Peace Commission; they attacked his personal expenditures, and the late Senator Penrose, the oligarch of stand-pat Republicanism in the Senate, even stooped so low as to call in question a few gifts of paltry value which generous friends bestowed upon Mrs. Wilson abroad.

When it comes to "national service" remaining "untold and unappreciated" while "no alleged misdeeds of the name of a high public official is too unimportant to claim notice," the press which Mr. Harding is now pleased to denounce, never approached in its niggardly or mendacious spirit the attitude of the Senate of the United States toward Woodrow Wilson while he was abroad.

But that is not all. When he returned home facing a hostile Senate, forced to go to the people for any hope of success, and was stricken down in his labors, the relentless hand of malice beat upon his sick chamber, and partisan envy invented the miserable slander that he was crazy.

How trivial and inconsequential are the offenses of these "blackguards of the press," as President Harding characterizes them, in printing an authentic and undenied account of the charges against Harry Daugherty, an able-bodied, strong American, compared to the miserable slanders which a partisan Senate circulated against a stricken President and his gentle wife.

Narrow and insensate partisan partisanship has written many black pages upon the political history of the United States, but none blacker than the treatment accorded to Woodrow Wilson as he lay at death's door in a White House chamber.

No resolution ever expressed the hope of the recovery of the President of the United States; no syllable of sympathy for him was ever uttered; whilst the poison squad, headed by Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, was industriously circulating the rumor that the President had lost his mind.

That is the record of the manner in which a Republican Senate treated Woodrow Wilson when he was unable to meet his defamers.

Surely when Mr. Harding rebukes the press for merely printing legitimate news in regard to a Cabinet member who is at least strong of body, if he is not clean of heart, he must have forgotten that he himself was a member of the United States Senate in the fall of 1919.—Elizabethtown News.

BUSCH CALLS U. S. WORLD'S BIGGEST BOOTLEGGER

Shipping Board Head Upholds
Sale of Liquor on American Vessels.

St. Louis, June 14.—The question of whether United States ships shall be wet or dry today brought charges from August A. Busch, president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., that the United States has become "the biggest bootlegger in the world" by selling liquor on Shipping Board vessels when outside the three-mile limit, a reply from Chairman A. D. Lasker of the board declaring that liquor was and would be sold on the board's vessels and a statement from Prohibition Director Haynes that he would "act in a vigorous manner" to enforce the law so soon as it is determined if liquor selling on United States vessels is illegal.

Mr. Lasker further charged that during the war the late Adolphus Busch was "possibly the Kaiser's closest friend in this country," this charge bringing a statement from Anheuser-Busch, Inc., that in another letter it will deny this and will state that the Anheuser-Busch organization "reserves the right to protest when the United States Government buys German beer to sell on its ships and will not let American beer be made."

SIX HURT WHEN AUTO BUS FALLS OVER 50-FOOT BANK

Covington, Ky., June 15.—Five passengers and the driver of the Covington, Independence and Fiskburg bus were injured in an accident today at Grassy Creek, near the Pendleton and Kenton County line, twenty-eight miles from Covington. The machine toppled over a fifty-foot embankment. The cries of the victims could be heard for some distance and farmers went to their rescue. List Caldwell, who was driving the bus, said the steering gear broke.

JACK MADE MISTAKE IN PICKING UP SNAKE

He was bitten on both hands and refused medical attention.

GRAND OPENING Picnic and Ball —AT— SULPHUR SPRINGS

Old Sulphur Springs, which was for more than a hundred years one of the most famous watering places and health resorts in Western Kentucky, will again echo to the sound of many voices and her ballroom resound to the tripping of the light fantastic toe on Next Fourth of July.

The proprietor, Mr. J. F. Magan, has, during the past several months, entirely remodeled the hotel, torn down and built anew the famous ball room and improved the well and grounds in every way.

A number of visitors are already stopping at the resort, but on July Fourth, will come the grand opening. On that date there will be given a grand Picnic with the Opening Ball that night.

This place, with its rolling lawns, beautiful groves and best sulphur water in the State, should be inviting enough to prevent anyone from going elsewhere in search of health or recreation.

Hail Insurance Rates Reduced on Tobacco

With the recent reductions of hail storm insurance rates on growing tobacco, in the face of the enormous losses to growers within the last four or five years, every grower can afford to protect himself to the limit and, with safety, go into the business of producing a crop that requires so much money, time and labor, as does tobacco, that should be insured against loss by hail storms.

Now that so many growers have gone into an organization for a more economical, business-like way of handling their crops, and the insurance companies have so lowered rates on hail insurance, there is no reason in the world for any grower to neglect the protection of his crop by ample insurance.

Better see your insurance agent right away and have him protect your crop, which is likely to be destroyed any day by a hail storm. Policies become effective noon, July 10th.

Poisoned Bait Successful Measure Against Cutworms

Cutworms can readily be controlled by the use of poisoned bait, the United States Department of Agriculture has demonstrated. This is the way to prepare and apply the poison:

To 1 bushel of dry bran add 1 pound of white arsenic or Paris green and mix thoroughly into a mash with 4 gallons of water, in which has been stirred one-half gallon of sorghum or other cheap molasses. This amount will be sufficient to treat 4 or 5 acres of cultivated crops. After the mash has stood for several hours scatter it in lumps of about the size of a marble over the fields where the injury is beginning to appear. Put it about the bases of the plants which have been set out. Apply the mash late in the day, so as to have the poison in place around the plants before night, when the cutworms are active. Apply a second time if necessary.

Cutworms destroy hundreds of thousands, even millions, of dollars' worth of crops every year throughout the United States. They especially attack tomatoes, cabbage, lettuce, and other vegetables that have been started under glass and transplanted. Cutworms sometimes appear in great numbers in the spring and early summer, and frequently do severe injury before their ravages are noticed.

Their method of attack is to cut off the young plants near the ground. They are of large size and are voracious feeders, capable of destroying many plants in a single night. Often they cut down more than they can devour.

Pullets Lay Sooner If Given Good Care

Pullets which are given proper care and attention during the summer will start laying at least three months sooner than those which are given average farm care, according to J. R. Smyth, poultry extension specialist of the College of Agriculture. Most pullets raised on the farms of Kentucky start laying when they are about ten months old in spite of the fact that a small amount of attention and care would bring them into laying when they are from six to seven months old. Getting eggs three months earlier at a time when egg prices are likely to be high is an important factor in increasing the profits from the flock, Mr. Smyth has pointed out.

It is important that the growing stock be separated from the rest of the flock and placed on range in order that it will have a chance to develop normally. It also is advisable to separate the cockerels from the pullets as soon as sex can be determined. Only those cockerels which are needed for breeding purposes should be kept. The pullets should be placed on range where there is plenty of shade and a good colony house to protect them from bad weather. This house should be well ventilated and afford protection from rats, weasels and other small animals. It is essential that the pullets have plenty of room in the house, this being especially true in the fall when overcrowding on cool nights is apt to start an outbreak of roup.

A balanced ration fed throughout the summer helps the pullets to grow properly. Many of the leading poultrymen of the State have found that best results are obtained when a regular laying ration is used. A good mash for this purpose can be made of 100 pounds of bran, 100 pounds of shorts, 200 pounds of corn meal and 100 pounds of tankage or meat scrap. This should be kept before the birds at all times in a self-feeder. They also should be given as much grain as they eat of the dry mash. If plenty of sour skim milk or buttermilk is available, tankage or meat scrap can be left out of the mash. In addition to the grain and mash, ground limestone or oyster shell, some form of grit and plenty of fresh water should be kept before the birds at all times.

Limberneck Becoming More Serious As Chick Trouble

Frequent inquiries being received by the poultry department of the College of Agriculture indicate that limberneck already is causing the death of many growing chicks and hens in different sections of the State. The trouble, which increases as the weather becomes warmer, is quite common each year among farm flocks, poultrymen of the college say.

Limberneck, which is a symptom, rather than a disease, is a paralysis of the muscles in the neck of the birds which often results from eating decayed flesh. It is a form of poisoning that also may be caused by eating arsenate of lead and other poisons found on the farm. No cure is known for the trouble, the chief control of it being prevention. Special care should be taken to see that all dead chicks and animals are buried deeply or burned to prevent the spread of the trouble, the poultrymen say.

Seedmen May Study in Government Laboratories

Persons interested in learning the approved methods of testing commercial seeds are offered the facilities of the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, without charge. Although the department does not pretend to conduct a seed school with outlined courses and classes, it has for a number of years permitted a few people to study in the Government seed-testing laboratories, and in July and August an expert in seed testing devotes his time to helping them.

Those who have taken advantage of the opportunity in past years have been in most instances the sons of seedsmen or young men and women sent out by seed companies to learn the best methods that have been developed. The number taking up the work usually ranges from 5 to 15, and thus far the department has been able to care for all applicants.

These students become familiar with crop seeds, seed adulterants, weed seeds, and other foreign materials frequently found in commercial seeds. They are shown also how to make detailed analyses for purity and how to test seeds for germination. If a seedsmen has a special problem arising out of the peculiarities of his business, he is given every possible aid in solving it. The department welcomes the opportunity to give those who know the commercial side of the seed business additional knowledge of its technical aspects. It is an effective way to improve the quality of seeds sold to farmers and, consequently, to improve yields.

Persons who contemplate taking up this work this season should plan, if possible, to start about July 1.

Spraying With Kerosene Remedy Against Lawn Ants

To get rid of lawn ants entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture suggest drenching the nests with boiling water or pouring in a small quantity of kerosene oil. Similar treatment may be applied to nests between or beneath paving stones. Spraying the lawn with kerosene emulsion or with very strong soap wash is also recommended. For large ant nests dislodge of carbon injected into the nest by means of an oil can or a small syringe is recommended to kill the ants. The fumes of dislodge of carbon have a very disagreeable odor and are inflammable, but they are not injurious to higher animals in the open air.

Jail Sentence Imposed For Violating Bird Laws

That there are strong teeth in the law protecting migratory birds was demonstrated recently by the Federal judge for the eastern district of Arkansas when he sentenced to four months in jail a violator brought before him on the charge of selling wild ducks. This is the twelfth jail sentence imposed for infraction of the migratory bird treaty act, the sentences ranging from five days to six months. The States where jail sentences had previously been imposed are Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, New Jersey, South Carolina, and Virginia. The act is administered by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Limit To Economical Use Of Molasses To Fatten Steers

That there is a limit to the quantity of blackstrap molasses which can be added with economy to a ration of 5.4 pounds of cottonseed meal and 46 pounds of corn silage for fattening yearling steers was shown in a test made by the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Louisiana Experiment Station.

Two lots of nine 700-pound steers were fed for 112 days. Forty-six pounds of silage per steer per day was practically the limit of their capacity. Lot 1 was fed 5.42 pounds of molasses per steer daily, while lot 2 was fed 8.07 pounds of molasses per steer daily. As lot 1 gained 2.48 pounds per steer daily, while lot 2 gained only 2.41 pounds per steer daily, it is evident that 2.65 pounds of molasses was wasted daily per steer in lot 2. The results in lot 2 might have been more favorable to the use of so much molasses had the cottonseed-meal ration been reduced to 3.5 or 4 pounds. In the test, lot 1 consumed 1,880 pounds of silage, 218 pounds of cottonseed meal, and 218 pounds of molasses per 100 pounds gain, while lot 2 required 2 per cent more cottonseed meal, and 54 per cent more molasses to produce 100 pounds of gain.

Silage Mixtures Tested For Steers In The South

To get results economically most cattle feeders should use some kind of silage in the rations, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Steers fed on silage usually not only make more economical gains, shrink less, and make more profits than steers fed on dry roughage, but also make it possible to utilize crops grown primarily in rotation for restoring the fertility of worn-out lands.

The comparative value of a number of different silage crops for steer feeding was recently worked out by the department in co-operation with the Louisiana Experiment Station. In one instance similar lots of cattle were fed a ration of cottonseed meal and blackstrap molasses in combination with corn silage, corn and Biloxi soy-bean silage, sorghum silage, sorghum and Biloxi soy-bean silage, and Japanese cane and Biloxi soy-bean silage.

The best gain was made by the steers fed the straight corn silage, but it was shown that the capacity of a farm for fattening or wintering cattle may be greatly increased by the use of heavyyielding silage crops such as sorghum and Japanese cane. Immature Biloxi soy beans mixed with corn or sorghum were not so satisfactory, but with late-maturing crops like Japanese cane these gave very good results. Sorghum silage and Japanese cane and Biloxi soy-bean silage are practically equal in feeding value for steers when supplemented by cottonseed meal and molasses.

A dust mixture of nicotine sulphate, for which the United States Department of Agriculture will supply a formula upon application, will keep the striped cucumber beetle from cucumbers, melons, squash, and pumpkin vines.

Spraying walnut trees with lead arsenate at a strength of 6 pounds to 50 gallons of water is an effective method of controlling the hicknut curculio, says the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture.

There were 359,839 fewer meat animals slaughtered in the United States under Federal inspection during April this year than last, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. To this shortage sheep and lambs contributed 361,511, hogs 57,523, cattle 577, and calves 218.

Prices of dairy and poultry products suffered the least in the rapid deflation of prices of farm products which began in 1920 and continued through 1921, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Under an agreement recently entered into between the British Government and the United States Department of Agriculture frozen pork cuts may now be imported into England.

The 1922 production of crimson clover seed is expected to be larger than last year's small crop, although it will not approach the heavy production of 1918 and 1919, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In 15 Southern States 14,690 houses were screened against flies and mosquitoes last year as a result of the efforts of home demonstration agents, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. Similar demonstrations and other measures for fly and mosquito control will be used again this year in parts of the country where flies and mosquitoes abound and screening of houses is not a common practice.

CANE RUN CHURCH

On Sunday, June 18, 1922, Cane Run Sunday School conducted Children's Day exercises. A splendid program was rendered. The morning service was devoted to Sunday School addresses by our pastor, Bro. Bob Oldham and Bros. H. D. Hurch, N. B. Davis, K. C. Myers and Dr. B. A. Myers, after which dinner was spread on the ground. There was sufficient to feed the large congregation and enough left to have fed that many more.

The afternoon service was devoted to the children's part of the program, which was highly enjoyed by everyone present. Cane Run Sunday School had prepared about 30 recitations and dialogues; Horse Branch Sunday School some 10 or twelve and Fair View Sunday School about 15 or 20, all of which were first class in every particular. The crowd was estimated at between 800 and 1000 and had it not been for the rain in the morning we believe there would have been as many more.

After the addresses and the recitations the congregation proceeded to have a farewell hand shake. This was the greatest gathering and the most enjoyable day for Cane Run in many years.

I now want to thank everybody present for the good order and also to thank all who so ably assisted me in this day's service in any way.

Yours in Christ,
G. J. HOOVER, Supt.

SPRING LICK MEN KILLED
BY LIGHTNING BOLT

Louisville, Ky., June 17.—Four men were killed and five injured eight miles from here today when lightning struck a cow shed in which they sought shelter during a storm. The dead are:

Hiram Glivens, 57, of Spring Lick.

Wes Geary, 25, Spring Lick.

Cliff Beasley, 20, Napier.

James Woodman, 51, Millwood.

The injured:

John Barrs, 38; Bryant Mathes,

27; Herschel Beasley, 41; Dent Embry, 24, and Austin Barnes, 26.

All the injured live at Spring Lick.

The men were repairing tracks along the Illinois Central railroad when the storm broke. A cow shed on the farm of Herman Gold at Pinview, was the nearest shelter and the men ran to it. They were there about five minutes when the structure suddenly crashed from the bolt and burst into flames. Those who were only slightly injured managed to drag the others out of the shed. Physicians at West Point, where the injured were taken, said that Barnes has a slight chance for recovery. The injuries of the others are not serious.

SHERIFF TO BRING BACK PRISONER FROM ILLINOIS
Sheriff G. A. Ralph left here Sunday morning for Freeport, Ill., armed with a requisition from the governor of Kentucky for Carby Fulton, who is wanted on a charge of deserting his infant children. Mr. Ralph will probably return today.

Rev. William Savage filed his appointment at Union Grove Christian Church, last Saturday night and Sunday. Large audiences were in attendance.

To Users Of Gasoline and Motor Oils

You've too much at stake in your motor equipment to be "spoofed" by mere claims about this or that thing in a gasoline or motor oil.

High-sounding technical terms don't insure you all the pep, power, mileage, safety and satisfaction you are entitled to in a motor fuel or lubricant.

But the word "Standard" does. And that's why it is the buy-word and the stand-by of the biggest users of gasoline and oils everywhere.

You can't "spoof" the big users. They know the dependability of the Standard Oil products and the responsibility of the Company back of them.

They know that if there were a better gasoline than New Crown or a better motor oil than Polarine, the Standard Oil Company would have it for them.

But "there aint no sich animal," no matter who says there is.

So good, so uniform, so dependable and so economical is New Crown

Gasoline that it is universally called "The Perfect Motor Fuel." It's even better than the requirements specified by the U. S. Government.

New Crown is made right here in Kentucky by a Kentucky firm, the Standard Oil Company (Kentucky) in its own refinery at Louisville, from which you get it fresh at all times—a firm that for 36 years has been a vital part of the business activities of the state of Kentucky and the economical life of its people.

Don't be "Spoofed"—Buy the "Always Reliable"

Standard Oil Products—New Crown Gasoline, Polarine Oils and Greases, back of which is a responsibility that is your guarantee of maximum pep, power, safety and satisfaction. And buy them from these, your own home dealers:

HARDING URGES TARIFF AHEAD OF SOLDIERS' BONUS

Republican Senator Favors Cash

Plan With Funds to Be Derived From Tax on Banks.

Washington, June 13.—Senate Republican leaders opposing the plan of Chairman McCumber, of the finance committee, to sidetrack the tariff bill for the soldiers' bonus bill, have the support of President Harding. The executive, it was stated officially today at the White House, regards tariff legislation as most important and worthy of the undivided attention of the senate.

Plans for consideration of the bonus still are very indefinite, but they may take shape after the return here tomorrow of Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, the Republican leader. Some leaders desire that a party conference pass upon the question of the right of way between the two bills, but should such a conference be called, proponents of the bonus are expected to make a fight against delaying senate action on that measure. Senator McCumber has given notice that he will call up the bill in the near future.

Some leaders said today there was a probability that the bill would be called up the latter part of next week until an agreement was reached in party conference to defer action.

MRS. G. J. CHRISTIAN'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

Quite a large crowd of friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Christian gathered at their home near Horse Branch, Sunday June 11th, to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Christian. Mr. and Mrs. Christian had gone to a neighbor's home to spend the day, in a proposed manner of Mr. Christian. Ervin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian called the neighbor and asked that Mr. and Mrs. Christian might come home that Mrs. Christian's sister, Mrs. Emma Acton, of Hartford, had come to spend the day with her. When Mr. and Mrs. Christian came within sight and seeing a number of cars and buggies parked around their home, Mrs. Christian began to wonder why so many cars were there. When they reached home she was surprised to see the many friends who had come to spend the happy day with her. Upon going into the dining room she found the tables laden with good things to eat. After calling the crowd around the tables, Rev. H. D. Burch offered a prayer for the occasion. After being sumptuously served the crowd entered the parlor, where they were entertained by music on the organ and victrola, after which all went to Cane Run, to attend Sunday school. Those present to enjoy the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Christian and son, Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Hoover and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Norvin Christian and little daughter, Molna, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Christian, Mrs. Emma Acton and little son, Owen, of Hartford, Mrs. Mary Christian, Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Burch, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller and six children, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. KENTUCKY CROP RE- PORT FOR JUNE, 1922

By
U. S. Bureau of Markets & Crop Estimates, co-operating with Kentucky.

General crop conditions in Kentucky are shown to be 11.6 percent above the 10-year average. In the June crop report for this state issued today by the United States Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates in co-operation with State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna, the condition of crops in Kentucky June 1 indicated the production of approximately 8,644,000 bus. of wheat; 6,550,000 bus. of oats; 176,000 bus. of barley; 239,000 bus. of rye; 1,222,000 tons of hay; 3,943,000 bus. of apples; and 1,102,000 bus. of peaches. Compared with 1921 this would be an increase of 2,304,000 bus. of wheat; 983,000 bus. of oats; 32,000 bus. of barley; 59,000 bus. of rye; 95,000 tons of hay; 3,307,000 bus. of apples; and 1,022,000 bus. of peaches. Actual yields may turn out less or more than these estimates, depending on whether conditions are particularly favorable or unfavorable between now and the time these crops are harvested or gathered.

Reports on acreage and condition of tobacco and corn will be issued July 12.

The Kentucky wheat crop this season in practically every part of the state gave promise of being one of the best in recent years, but as it began filling considerable red rust developed, and there was some complaint of poor filling and of lodging. Condition June 1 was 93 percent compared to the 10-yr. average of 82 percent. Acreage of oats is 8 percent less than 1921, with condition June 1 90 percent compared to the 10-yr. average of 84 percent. Barley acreage in Kentucky is about 2 percent more than in 1921, and the condition June 1 96 percent compared to the 10-yr. average of 90 percent. Rye, of all kinds, was 90 percent compared to the 10-year average of 82 percent. Clover hay acreage is 5 percent greater than in 1921 and the condition 94 percent compared to the 10-yr. average of 85 percent. Alfalfa condition is 96 percent and the acreage 6 percent more than in 1921. Pasture is excellent in practically all sections of the state; and a heavy blue grass seed crop has been striped, about 650,000 bus. Hemp acreage is exceedingly small this year. Condition of apples is 70 percent; peaches 82 percent; pear 64 percent; field peas and beans 90 percent; cabbage 91 percent; blackberries 97 percent; watermelons 86 percent; and muskmelons and cantaloupes 87 percent.

VICTORY WON BY TAX COMMISSION

Lexington, Ky., June 14.—Circuit Judge R. C. Stoll handed down a decision tonight shortly after 9 o'clock in the agreed suit filed by attorneys for Fayette county and the state tax commission, holding that the commission had the power to order and make reassessment of the county's property.

While Fayette county thus loses the first step in the legal fight against the state tax commission and its alleged arbitrary powers, certain restrictions were placed on the commission by Judge Stoll. It was ruled that the commission could not make a reassessment which would total greater amount than the original increase ordered by the commission; and, that any cost which may accrue from making the reassessment must be borne by the commission, as it could not contract any obligation on behalf of the county. It is also requested that should the commission make reassessment, it must notify every taxpayer in the county of an increase which may be made in the value of his property and the date and place where the taxpayer may make a protest against an increase in his assessment; must be provided by the commission.

The decision was handed down after discussion between attorneys for the county and the commission which lasted throughout the afternoon.

CITY SLICKERS

SURE WERE SLICK

Portland, Oregon, June 15.—P. M. Brickley, a resident near Nyssa, came to Portland Tuesday night to spend a few days. He had heard of some of these "city slickers" and was taking no chances. No, sir, he knew just how to look out for himself.

Brickley stopped at the Williamette hotel. He had more concern for his sleeping than for his waking hours and therefore took adequate precautions when he retired. Brickley's system seemed to work. He still had his money Wednesday morning.

Last night he carefully set out his $130 in bills before he took off his trousers and certain other conventional garments. With a piece of string he tied his money around the lower extension of one of his legs. Then he pulled on his socks, climbed into bed, his mind at peace concerning his "wad."

Alas! When Brickley awoke this morning, shook the sand out of his eyes, collected the lines of thought where he had left them last night, and reached down to give his sock a reassuring pat the terrible discovery was made.

Some one had neatly cut away the sock as would a surgeon. Moreover, some one had also neatly cut the string that bound the $130 to his leg.

And Nyssa is a long, long way from here.

TEAR GAS USED TO REPEL MICHIGAN MOB

Jackson, Mich., June 14.—Use of tear gas to repel the advance of more than a thousand citizens of Jackson who sought to take George Straub, confessed slayer of Miss Alice Mallett, from the sheriff, is largely responsible for Straub's safety in an unnamed Michigan city today. The prisoner, disguised as a city fireman, marched through the ranks of the crowd that sought his life last night and was spirited out of Jackson.

"But surely if I pay the fare for my dog, he will be treated as the other passengers and allowed to occupy a seat."

"Of course," politely replied the conductor, "provided he does not put his feet on it."

The Standard of Comparison

Why Buick Cushions "Ride Easy"

Buick cushions are comfortable on all roads because of their "double-deck" springs and resilient hair pads. The upper springs, which are light and easy-acting, yield to the slightest road irregularity. The lower springs are larger and stiffer. They come into play on rough country roads, carrying the passenger in comfort over bumps which cause the ordinary seat to "strike bottom".

Between the springs and the French-plaited leather upholstery are two thick, yielding pads of interlaced hair which positively prevent "lumping".

In Buick seat cushions, as in every other part of the car, is built the quality which has made Buick cars the standard of comparison.

A GOOD FRIEND

A good friend stands by you when in need. Hartford people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. Miss Emma E. Park, of Washington St., endorsed Doan's four years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

"I can certainly praise Doan's Kidney Pills because they are an excellent kidney remedy," says Miss Park. "I suffered with a dull backache and dizziness. Black spots came before my eyes and my kidneys didn't act right. Mornings I got up feeling tired and worn out. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills through the newspapers and started their use. This remedy did me a lot of good and I consider it excellent." (Statement given November 16, 1916.)

On January 25, 1921, Miss Park said: "It is not often I feel the need of Doan's Kidney Pills since I publicly endorsed them in 1916. When I do have a little trouble with my kidneys, a few Doan's never fail to promptly cure me. I am glad at any time to tell others about Doan's."

RADIO

THINGS BEGINNERS MUST LEARN FIRST

Explanation of Terms Used in Radio and of Its Basic Principles.

Due to the great interest taken in radio since broadcasting stations have been started, many radio terms are seen and heard that may be unfamiliar to the novice. Some of the most commonly used terms are explained and defined below.

Like light, heat and sound, radio energy is propagated in the form of a wave motion. Every one is familiar with the wave motion set up on the surface of a still body of water by the dropping of a stone into it.

Every time a point on the surface of the waves goes through a complete set of motions and starts to repeat those motions the wave is said to have gone through a cycle.

The number of complete cycles gone through per second is the frequency.

The human ear is responsive to sound frequencies up to a few thousand cycles per second but is not capable of responding to the higher frequencies encountered in radio. Arbitrarily a frequency of less than 10,000 cycles has been called an audible frequency—one which can be heard—and frequencies above 10,000 cycles, radio or inaudible frequencies—because they cannot be heard by the human ear.

The particular type of wave which propagates radio energy is an electromagnetic wave. All of us have seen bits of iron and steel attracted by the little toy magnets made up in the form of horseshoes. This attraction of the magnet for the bits of iron and steel showed the existence of a magnetic

The high-frequency current is known as the carrier-wave and its function is to radiate into space in the form of electro-magnetic waves and by its variation in amplitude carry with it the variation in the tone at the transmitting station.

It is the frequency of the carrier-wave that determines the wave-length on which a radiophone station is transmitted. By experiment it has been found that electro-magnetic waves travel at the same velocity that light waves travel, that is, 180,000 miles per second. Wave-length is the distance between any two similar points on two successive waves; for example, the distance from crest to crest of any two successive waves in the same direction, measured in meters, a unit of length equal approximately to one and one-tenth yards. Converting 180,000 miles to meters, the equivalent is 300,000,000 meters. The length of an electro-magnetic wave is equal then to 300,000,000 divided by the frequency. Suppose a station was transmitting on a wave-length of 300 meters. The frequency of the carrier-wave would be approximately 835,000 cycles.

Just as a violinist tunes his instrument, that is, makes a certain string emit a note of higher or lower pitch, or, technically speaking, a sound wave of higher or lower frequency, by adjusting the tension on the string, so may the electrical constants of the antenna circuit of a radiophone transmitter be changed in order to have the station emit a carrier-wave of a different frequency.

If a tuning fork having a natural period corresponding to middle C be placed near a violinist who is playing, the fork will vibrate when the musician plays middle C, but all other times it will remain quiescent. This phenomenon of the tuning fork vibrating whenever the musician plays the corresponding note on the violin is known as mechanical resonance. If a radio receiver be adjusted so that electrically its natural period of vibration will be 835,000 cycles (300 meters wave-length) every time a station transmits on a wave-length of 300 meters, current will be set up in the receiver by field about the tips of the magnet and this same kind of a field propagates the electro-magnetic force, except that unlike the toy magnet, its power comes off in the form of wavy motions. This electro-magnetic force propagates radio energy in all directions.

The medium that transmits the electro-magnetic waves is the same medium that transmits light—the ether. This medium is supposed to fill all space, even that occupied by fluids and solids. Little is known about its properties.

In radio it is more common to speak of wave length than frequency. The wave length of any wave motion is the distance between any two successive crests in the same direction. The wave length depends upon the frequency. If the frequency is high the wave length is short. On the other hand if the frequency is low the wave length is long. Numerically the wave length is equal to the distance traveled by the wave in one second divided by the frequency. Suppose, for example, that it were desired to know the wave length of an electro-magnetic wave having a frequency of 835,000 cycles. Electro-magnetic waves travel at the same speed as do light waves, that is, 180,000 miles per second. Dividing the 180,000 by 835,000 the wave length would be .223 miles or 393 yards. In radio work it is measured in meters. A meter is equal to approximately 1.1 yards. Converting 393 yards into meters the wave length would be 393 divided by 1.1 or 360 meters. This is the wave length on which KDKA operates. It also means that the electro-magnetic waves sent out from this station have a frequency of 835,000 cycles.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

In a radiophone transmitter there are two requirements that must be fulfilled. First, there must be a source of high-frequency current, say, between 15,000 and 1,500,000 cycles so, connected to an antenna and ground system that energy in the form of electro-magnetic waves will be radiated. Second, there must be some method of controlling this high-frequency current or modulating it so that the variations in the amplitude of the high-frequency current will be directly proportional to the voice or music to be transmitted.

How One Editor Uses Radio.

The editor of a paper in an isolated town in the northwest is using the radio in a most ingenious and effective way. An amateur radio friend in a big city 50 miles away buys the latest editions of the city papers as soon as they are off the press, reads the best news into his transmitter, and a typist in the country office copies the news as it comes in over the office receiver. The editor, through this ingenious plan, is always "first with the latest" in his home town.

BANKERS REFUSE LOAN TO BERLIN

Paris, June 8.—All idea of an international loan to Germany has been given up by the committee of bankers, and they are meeting today to agree upon the form of their report to this effect, which will be submitted to the Reparations Commission.

The work of formulating the report, it is stated, may take two or three sittings.

The prevailing opinion among the members of the banker committee is that two things are necessary to a loan—first, there must be unanimity among the lenders, which were to include all the countries represented on the Reparations Commission; second, that the credit basis of Germany must be outlined clearly.

The bankers look upon the Reparations Commission's reply to their recent note as an official declaration that unanimity does not exist among the prospective lenders, and therefore feel that plans for a loan cannot be advanced.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN EASY WINNER IN IOWA PRIMARY

Des Moines, Ia., June 6.—Smith W. Brookhart, of Washington, was nominated the Republican, candidate for the United States senate from Iowa at the primary Monday.

With returns received from all except 246 of the 2,348 precincts in the state, there is no question of his victory. Of 289,084 votes cast in these precincts, Brookhart received 118,493 or forty-one per cent. Thirty-five per cent is necessary for nomination.

Three of the four congressmen from Iowa, who had primary fights were beyond question nominated for re-election. Gilbert N. Haugen, Zennis Cole and L. J. Dickinson have margins sufficiently large to insure victory and nothing is likely to overturn the smaller lead of congressman W. D. Boies.

Why Fordson Farming Is Big Yield Farming

FORDSON farmers have an adequate amount of power available for all farm operations. They can plow at the time when plowing does the most good. They can harrow, drill, cultivate, and harvest without delays and so save all their crops in the best of condition. That's why their crops are bigger. That's why their crops sell at higher prices.

Only one-ninth of the wheat in one of the biggest wheat states grades No. 1 or No. 2. The loss in grade is between harvest and marketing and most of this loss is caused by delays in threshing. But, this doesn't need to happen on a Fordson farm. With a Fordson and a Wood Brothers Individual Thresher, you don't have to wait your turn. You can thresh when the grain is in the best condition and when it will grade well on the market.

The Individual, being Standard Fordson Equipment, is in the price class that makes it economical for every Fordson farmer to own one. Often five or six go together in buying.

It wasn't a case of cutting down a big thresher to fit the Fordson. The Individual was built from the ground up to take its place as an important part of this new system of farming. It saves all the grain. It is fully guaranteed.
